I am a web developer with a background in non-profit event planning. For fun, I enjoy taking ballet classes. My love for ballet informs my approach to web development, as perfection in both ballet and web development requires determination and insight to master the fundamentals and integrate them to create a beautiful masterpiece.

Web Developer Experience

General Assembly   November 2016-March 2017

Web Development Immersive
- The course was 35 hours a week instructional time and 20-30 hours a week of homework.
- Created websites using JavaScript, NodeJS, React, ExpressJS, CSS, and HTML with testing in Jasmine.
- Deployed and saved all changes using GitHub

Projects

Connect Three   December 2016
- Created a version of Connect Four featuring Donald Trump and Vladimir Putin with the Make It Rain library and a win song for each player.
- This solidified my knowledge of jQuery and vanilla JavaScript.

NY Times Headlines   January 2017
- Created a React app using the NY Times API with full CRUD functionality
- This app reinforced my knowledge of React, CRUD functionality, and using APIs.

Under $10   February 2017
- Group project that allows users to add their favorite cheap meals so other people can find affordable food.
- This app taught me the git workflow and solidified my knowledge of ExpressJS.

Vortxt   February 2017
- A fun chatroom where any user can delete any users' message.
- This was my first full stack app that I created independently. It taught me a lot about web sockets.
